A dark, moody photograph of a rustic interior. The focal point is a brick fireplace mantel. Mounted on the wall above the mantel is a taxidermied animal head with long, curved horns. On the mantel itself, there is a large, textured, light-colored vase and a metal candle holder containing three white candles. To the left of the mantel, a branch with small white flowers is visible. To the right, a small wooden table holds a mug and some dried flowers. In the background, a mirror and a metal chair are partially visible. The overall atmosphere is warm and rustic.

Nestling in a valley and looking out over established woods, we tried to capture some of the natural beauty inside.
